

Limit by Publication Type (Source)

Before and during your search, you can filter your results to specific publication types or source (i.e. journals, magazines, newspapers, etc.). In most databases the different types are listed directly above your search results. Clicking one of these tabs or links will limit your results to that type of publication.

Publication Types (Sources) include:

- Academic Journals / Scholarly Journals
- Trade Publications
- Magazines
- Reports
- Industry Profile and more
- Go to Sources: What can you use for your research? to learn more about peer-reviewed journals, books, dissertations and more.

The image displays two screenshots of library search results. The top screenshot is from ProQuest, showing search results for '(depression) AND (addiction)'. A red circle highlights the 'All sources' filter tab, with a red arrow pointing to it. Below the filter tabs, the first search result is titled 'Alcohol Consumption and Posttraumatic Stress After Exposure to Terrorism: Effects of Proximity, Loss, and Psychiatric History'. The bottom screenshot is from EBSCOhost, showing search results for 'Business Source Complete'. A red circle highlights the 'Academic Journals' filter tab, with a red arrow pointing to it. Below the filter tabs, the first search result is titled 'The Effectiveness of Business Codes: A Critical Examination of Existing Studies and the Development of an Integrated Research Model'.
