

To Capella University, its staff, instructors, students and counsel.

During the course of the litigation between Capella and myself, I have made or created a significant number of online comments and images critical of the University, its staff and students, and its lawyers, and, in particular, Greg Thom, Priscilla McNulty, Lisa Bromenshenkel, Kurt Linberg, Karen Viechnicki, Michael Offerman, Diane Stottlemyer, Fey Epling and Chris L'Orange. Many of my comments and images were extremely personal, derogatory, and contained demeaning and insulting language. In addition, I have also filed complaints with a number of local, state and federal agencies where I stated or inferred Capella and its staff were incompetent or engaged in improper activities. Third parties reading these comments, or seeing these images, could easily have been misled by their content.

My comments, images and complaints were based on factual inaccuracies or my perception of events, and were neither accurate nor fair. Consequently, I now retract my statements, images and complaints, and offer my sincere apology.

At the time I made these statements I believed these statements to be true, and at the time these statements were made I sincerely believed that I had been mistreated by the University and certain members of its staff.

Jeff La Marca