Financial Need is based on the Expected Family Contribution (EFC), which is determined by completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The Federal Work-Study funds are a part of the financial aid package; however, are paid to students on a bi-weekly basis after employment requirements are met and wages have been earned.

Private education loans

Capella recommends that any learners seeking a private loan first contact a financial aid counselor to confirm that you are maximizing your federal funding options prior to applying for a private loan. You can apply for the private loan online, and your lender will send you notification of approval or denial within 24 hours of completing the application. If approved, contact a financial aid representative at 1.888.CAPELLA (1.888.227.3552), fao@capella.edu or let us know via our alternative loan web form.

Capella does not recommend any one private loan lender over another. If you don't know where to begin your search, it is recommended you consider starting with your local bank and/or credit union. Self certification forms are available and will be completed, upon request.

Disbursements and federal aid refunds

Students who are eligible for financial aid, enrolled at least half-time (for federal loans), and have engaged in their course will have their funds disbursed to Capella during the third week of their course(s). Disbursements made after the third week of courses are processed using the same timelines.

Capella is participating in the Experimental Sites Initiative (ESI), which tests the effectiveness of statutory and regulatory flexibility for disbursing Title IV student aid. ESI Experiment 6 involves testing the effect of reduced Unsubsidized Stafford loan borrowing limits on graduation and persistence rates. For Capella, this will take the form of a $2,000 reduction ($500 per quarter) in the annual Unsubsidized eligibility for a select population of students. This is a statutory exemption from the usual regulatory provisions provided by the Department of Education.

Financial responsibility

Students can help protect their future by borrowing responsibly. This begins with borrowing only loan funds that are needed and planning ahead for repayment.
