With over 25 years of providing doctoral education, Capella University has never stopped innovating. With groundbreaking programs that work for the unique needs of our students. And now with our revolutionary FlexPath learning format, earning your Doctor of Education degree at Capella is more convenient than ever. FlexPath lets you set your own deadlines, control your costs and use your knowledge and experience to move forward at your pace. our EdD program is designed for students pursuing educational leadership roles in a variety of industries. For those who are passionate about taking their career to the next level, and cultivating real change in education.

Taught by experienced scholar practitioners, our EdD students develop the skills they need to reach their personal and professional goals of becoming leaders in education. This accredited program features a capstone research project where students solve real-world problems and respond to actual workplace scenarios for in-depth learning that they can use both personally and professionally. And you'll tackle your capstone early on. No need to wait until the end of your program for this valuable experience.

Faculty mentors will guide you through your program. You'll have a support team every step of the way, committed to helping you reach the highest levels of educational leadership. Capella puts students in control, in a position to become an informed decision maker poised for success in K-12 and higher education administration, or a related non-profit, government, military and healthcare position. An EdD from Capella University helps students get the skills they need to transform their workplace environment and succeed in their careers.

You'll expand your leadership, contributing new ideas and building skills on your schedule, while controlling your costs. If you have the desire to inspire change within your organization and put your passion into action, earn your EdD degree with FlexPath, only from Capella.
