This journey has been amazing. It's been an experience that I can say I've loved from beginning to end. My son is now five, I am pregnant. I'm due in two and a half weeks. But I did it and I got my MBA.

[Back to school with Nurse Nacole]

Today marks the beginning of my MBA journey. I'm a nurse here in Florida. I work night shifts so usually I'm sleeping during the day. I love this program because it's so flexible. I feel in charge of my education which is really really weird.

One of my biggest challenges was balancing life and work. I have a family so when I signed up for this I had to be really realistic in what I could do and how I could stretch myself. With FlexPath, I was able to make adjustments. It was able to work with me in my lifestyle in any sort of life transitions that I had.

And these couple months have been crazy. I went from bedside to advanced practice provider and it was really stressful for me and my family with this new job. Luckily, I have the FlexPath option where I can change my target dates to further in the term and I'm doing much better now.

One of the best features was that I was able to change my deadlines. I would look at my son's schedule, I would then give my calendar to my husband and I would do the deadlines based on my life.

I've learned so much about me. It's increased my professional profile. It can be very stressful to do that first step, to start a class. And you don't really know what you're getting into usually until you're actually there, but with FlexPath it was like, home. [Music ends]
